lems of residents of Kurubarahalli, J.C. Nagar, K.C. Nagar and Siddarthanagar coming under Krishnaraja Constituency. The meeting was held at the CITB Choultry at Siddarthanagar and MLA Somashekar had assured of a solution within three months.

"At the meeting, Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep and MUDA Commissioner Dr. M. Mahesh had said that a suitable report will be sent to the State government highlighting the grievances of the people who have purchased sites from MUDA and how the land was classified as 'B-Kharab'. Despite the presence of senior officials and the subsequent assurances, nothing has moved so far," Manjunath alleged.

Voice of the Victims

When will the tormented residents of these layouts see the humane face of this Siddharamaiah Government?

Mysuru, July 7 (RKB&BCT)- Fed up and frustrated by the inordinate delay in the long-pending and vexed issue of properties coming under Kurubarahalli Survey No. 4 and other layouts namely Alanahalli, K.C. Nagar and Income Tax Layouts under Alanahalli Survey No. 41, the residents are once again taking the protest route to get their grievances resolved.

On March 4 this year, Krishnaraja MLA M.K. Somashekar had assured the residents that all their problems regarding ownership and the issue of 'khatas' will be solved within three months. "This is July and the problems remain in as-is-where-is condition. Nothing has changed and we have no alternative but to protest," said B.P. Manjunath, BJP National Council Member and Convener, Survey No. 4 Hitharakshana Samithi.

Addressing a press conference at Pathrakarthara Bhavan here this morning, he said that a protest will be organised in front of Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) on July 12. He said that a 'Public Grievance Meeting' was held on March 4 this year to hear the prob-

GHOST: Manifesting itself as GST

What is in a name? That which we call a rose, by any other name would smell as sweet, wrote William Shakespeare (1564-1616) in his famous play Romeo and Juliet. The field is open to any playwright of our times to write a matching line about taxes in general and Goods and Services Tax in particular. All would support the playwright if he or she wrote that GST, called by any other name would not be less taxing to the already tax-tormented people in the land. One is prompted to remark that GST is a virtual acronym or synonym of the word Ghost, the manifested form of a dead person's spirit, the grammatical exercise needing addition of just two letters H and O. There is more to be said about GST. A piece on WhatsApp platform doing rounds among humour-savvy Kannadigas, portraying a question-answer dialogue between two of them goes like this: Q: What is GST? A: Gotthilla Swami, Thalekediscobedi (meaning, not clear about it, but don't bother about it unnecessarily).

The aforementioned closeness of GST to ghost may be ignored by many who favour GST compliance and dismiss the reality of ghosts. A witty analyst has rightly observed that a penalty for doing something wrong is fine, and a penalty for doing something right is tax. The authors of GST and the authority that has brought in the newly-christened levy on the nation's diaspora would like to think that all are doing only right and, therefore, must cough up the tax at stipulated rates.

The style and scale of letting the literati across the land know about the glorious side to GST with the slogan "1-Tax, 1-Nation, 1-Market" by resorting to full-page, multicoloured hoarding-like advertisement on the front page of all major and minor periodicals this week must have cost the Union government a bomb, if only the publishers of the dailies get their due in cash, sooner or later. Sources in the government or the flock of pro-government freelancing correspondents to the print media have lost no time in extolling the benefits of falling in line with the novel financial reform, by highlighting the fall in the consumer price of a plethora of goods sought by people at large, apart from luxury SUVs (sports utility vehicles).

The architects of GST and the top brass in the government have given themselves a few months time for the tax-generated turmoil to blow over. One has to keep one's fingers crossed until the day their sentiment proves right. However, choosing 12 midnight for ushering in the GST regime in a Parliament sitting at dead of night sounds baffling. When Sir Winston Churchill boastfully said that sun never sets upon the British Empire, George Bernard Shaw reacted saying that nobody trust an Englishman in the dark!

BARBERS TO STOP CHILD MARRIAGE: In an effort to curb child marriage, the West Bengal government is roping in barbers, priests, decorators and others, who can report to local authorities if an underage bride or groom is forced into marriage. Typically, a Bengali marriage is not complete without a barber, who is required to dress the groom; a priest, who officiates the marriage; and decorators, who make arrangements for the ceremony. State officials believe these professionals, sine qua non in a Bengali wedding, will have requisite information, including the age of the bride and groom. In the last two months, the State administration was able to stop 30 such marriages. — In Business Standard.

Death play to receive govt. compensation

Uttar Pradesh: In a horrifying trend recently reported by Indian media, poor villagers near the Pilibhit Tiger Reserve are allegedly sending their elderly relatives into the jungle as tiger prey, so they can then claim compensation from the government.

Following an unusually high number of reported tiger attacks on elderly people from villages near the reserve – seven deaths since February – Wildlife Crime Control Bureau (WCCB) in Uttar Pradesh began to suspect that something was off. After gathering enough evidence, villagers were accused of deliberately sending elderly members of their communities into the jungle to be killed by the wild animals, so they could then claim compensation from the govt. "They think that since they can't get resources from the forest, this is the only way their families can escape poverty," 60-year-old Jarnail Singh, a farmer said. Kalim Athar, the WCCB Official investigated and has submitted a report to the Authority for further action.

No age gap for love!

Jakarta: Selamat Riayadi, a 16-year-old boy from South Sumatra, Indonesia, recently married his sweetheart, 71-year-old Rohaya. The two are apparently so in love with each other that they threatened to take their own lives if their families didn't give their blessing for the controversial union.

It's not exactly clear how and when Selamat and Rohaya fell in love, but they two have become husband and wife recently, during a wedding ceremony held at the house of their village Chief, in Karangendah Village, South Sumatra. The wedding was held at night, to keep the number of visitors to an acceptable number, because their controversial love story had already attracted curious visitors from neighbouring villages. Selamat has moved into Rohaya's house, and they are both over the moon after getting married. While their wedding is definitely controversial. Kuwoyo said that hundreds of people have been visiting the newly-weds to congratulate them on their union and give them their best wishes.

VOICE OF THE READER

A 'sewage river' on Vinaya Marga !

Sir,

We, the residents of 8th Cross Vinaya Marga, Siddartha Layout (behind Jain Temple) have been frequently facing flooding of sewage water. Often the main line is blocked for one reason or the other resulting in back-flushing of sewage water to the corner house of Vinaya Marga and 8th Cross. Ultimately the drainage water overflows onto the entire street resembling a 'river.'

In spite of our repeated complaints, neither the authorities concerned nor the local elected representative have taken any action. We the residents want a permanent solution instead of allowing the drainage overflow often and then clear the pipes.

When Mysuru is second to Delhi for dengue and chikungunya, we the residents are afraid, if a permanent solution is not found very soon we will be the victims of such killer diseases.

Hence, we request the authorities concerned to offer a permanent solution to this frequently happening unhealthy civic problem.

—Ramraj on behalf of the residents

Taming our Traffic

The Taming of the Shrew' is the title of a very well-known and popular Shakespearean play that I studied as part of our English non-detailed syllabus while I was in the eighth standard. It is a comedy about the experiences of three friends in managing their newly-acquired brides who seem to be of vastly differing temperaments. The seemingly most unlucky man, married to the seemingly most untameable woman, emerges as the proud winner of the undeclared war of wits among the three friends.

Shakespeare, the king of the quill should thank his stars that he is long dead. I say this because had he been alive today he would not have been able to bear the wrath and fury of all the feminists he would have scorned not just by calling a member of their sex a shrew but also by showing us how her husband 'tamed' her. But I have a feeling that women all over the world and over the centuries in a very forgiving act have allowed the Bard's works to survive on our book-shelves because of one phrase which they wrongly attribute to him. The phrase is 'Heaven has no rage like love to hatred turned, nor hell a fury like a woman scorned.'

Most women and men too, except those who have studied English literature as a subject tend to think that Shakespeare wrote this when in fact it was written by William Congreve in The Mourning Bride in the year 1697 well after Shakespeare had bid goodbye to this world. But the fact remains that millions of men today read 'The Taming of the Shrew,' the play that the Bard has written and secretly enjoy recounting how one of his characters scores a victory over his wife. This secret delight perhaps serves to mitigate in a small measure their frustration over their own failures in similar missions!

The fact that this super husband was only a fictional character being a figment of Shakespeare's fertile imagination does not make the slightest difference to their glee! Leaving humour aside and leaving Shakespeare to bask in the relief of his narrow escape, thanks to a flattering phrase which he never wrote, let us now come to the very important issue of chaotic traffic in our city that needs much taming. Over the past few days, we have been seeing much discussion in SOM about the frenzied traffic in our city. Citizens tend to blame the laxity of our Traffic Management Police and the Police in turn blame unruly drivers. Unruly drivers blame the civic authorities for the bad state of our city roads and civic authorities blame citizens for suffering this fate by not paying their taxes on time. Pedestrians blame merciless motorists and motorists blame jaywalking pedestrians. Four-wheeler users blame wriggling two-wheeler users and two-wheel users blame bull-dozing four-wheeler drivers.

But all citizens uniformly blame city bus and autorickshaw drivers who have turned our roads into a vast arena where they can strut, grunt and glare like medieval warlords. City bus and autorickshaw drivers are such nice angels that they never blame anyone. They just have the last laugh and keep driving in their own 'all-others-can-go-to hell' style unmindful of all lesser mortals!

But the sad fact remains that this blame game seems to be taking us nowhere, at least by road and we seem to be unable to do anything about the utter chaos that has become a nightmare to all road-users over the past few years ever since the population of both people and vehicles in our city started overflowing beyond its ability to support their presence.

While there are various factors at play that have been responsible for the extreme hardship, inconvenience and frustration that we experience while driving or walking through our city one fact stands out like a very sore thumb. When it comes to needless deaths on our roads, our youngsters take the cake in being responsible for most of them with their total lack of concern for their own safety and the safety of others. Once priceless human life seems to have become such a cheap and dispensable commodity today that its worth is equivalent only to the joy that a teenaged lad gets out of doing what very often becomes the last 'wheelie' of his life on a busy road when he espies a bevy of girls passing by. And young girls too, unwilling to be outdone in their prowess by the boys, seem to drive their two-wheelers not on petrol but on pure adrenaline.

Recently we read about a city lad, the son of very sober and responsible parents, who was nabbed by our Traffic Police after having committed eighty offences on our roads and who was let off riding his bike, after he paid just rupees eight thousand as fine. This makes very sad reading and it is a very sad reflection of our legal system which advocates penalties and punitive procedures which are not the least bit deterrent even to habitual offenders.

Just imagine the arrogance and disregard this one youngster must have had in him to turn a blind eye to his own safety while he thumbed his nose at traffic signs, signal lights and Traffic Policemen and kept breaking rules over and over again. The victory he has scored over our legal system by getting away with both his bike and his licence to ride it after paying less than what he perhaps spends with his friends on a weekend in a seedy bar will undoubtedly be the topic of his latest boast.

While there are many lacunae in our legal system that cannot be corrected in a hurry our Traffic Police should wake up to the reality of what is happening around them and start identifying offenders and start impounding their vehicles and levy heavy and deterrent fines. Here they should give priority in bringing to book offenders who inconvenience and endanger other road users instead of only concentrating on people who may be endangering their own lives by not wearing seat belts and helmets.

Let the driver who drives through a red light, the driver who blocks others by being in the wrong lane, the driver who whizzes past you at lightning speed like an unguided missile, the driver who under the influence of drink or dope drives while he is seeing double and the rider who jolts you awake from your sleep when he drives by your house on his unmuffled bike be the ones to be roped in first!

Minister defends release of Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu

M.B. Patil

Bengaluru, July 7- The State government yesterday defended the release of Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu and said that a small quantity was being released from the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) dam to comply with the Supreme Court's order.

Minister for Water Resources M.B. Patil said that to ensure victory in the legal battle in the Supreme Court, some water was being released to Tamil Nadu. The inflow of water to four reservoirs — Harangi, Kabini, Hemavathi and KRS — stood at 12,700 cusecs a day and 4,000 cusecs of water was being released daily to Tamil Nadu, he said.

As per the Cauvery Water Disputes Tribunal (CWDT) order, Karnataka has to release 134 tmcft of water to Tamil Nadu from June to September. Storage of water in four reservoirs should be 34 tmcft in June. However, owing to poor rainfall, the storage level stood at 11 tmcft. Only after adequate storage of water in dams, water would be released for agricultural activities in the basin areas, Patil said.

"Water can be released only if it rains in the catchment areas. We are releasing water based on the availability in the reservoirs. The inflow of water to the reservoirs has decreased due to deficient monsoon. But it is binding on the State to release water to Tamil Nadu. Hence, water is being released. The State will definitely release more water if it rains in coming days," he said.

"We have the responsibility to protect the interest of farmers in the basin region. Priority is given for supplying drinking water to Bengaluru and other towns. Water will be supplied for agriculture purposes if the reservoirs become full, the Minister added.

On Mekedatu, he said the State had already submitted its detailed project report to the Central Water Commission. Steps are being taken to seek clearance from the Ministry of Environment and Forest for the project. The work will be taken up once all approvals are obtained, he added.

The Tamil Nadu government has raised objection to the project and it recently urged the Centre not to allow Karnataka to implement the project.

CM CONTRADICTS

Siddharamaiah

Meanwhile, Chief Minister Siddharamaiah said that there was no water in the reservoirs across the Cauvery basin and it was not possible to release water at this juncture. The CM contradicted his cabinet colleague and Water Resources Minister M.B. Patil who said that the State was releasing 4,000 cusecs of water every day to Tamil Nadu.

"There is no water at our reservoirs. In such a situation, how can we release water," he said. "In spite of the distress situation in Cauvery basin, we have released 'substantial' quantum of water to TN as per Apex Court's earlier directions," he added.

5% quota in civil services for Kannada medium students

Bengaluru, July 7- The Siddharamaiah government yesterday announced 5% reservation for State civil services aspirants who have studied in Kannada medium from first standard to tenth standard. The move comes in the backdrop of the pressure being mounted by the Kannada Development Authority and Kannada activists over reservation in employment for Kannada medium students.

The idea was first mooted in 2001 during the Congress government led by the then Chief Minister S.M. Krishna and a sub-committee was constituted on the issue under the leadership of the then Primary and Secondary Education Minister A. H. Vishwanath who had also favoured 5% reservation for Kannada medium students. However, the proposal got rebooted recently with Siddharamaiah directing the Department of Personnel and Administrative Reforms to set the ball rolling.

According to the government circular issued yesterday evening, 5% reservation will be applicable for "candidates who have studied in Kannada medium from first to tenth standard where the qualifying examination prescribed for a post is SSLC or higher or from first standard to qualifying examination where the qualifying examination prescribed for a post is lower than SSLC." Changes to this effect have been incorporated in the Karnataka Civil Services (General Recruitment) Rules-1977.

In JD(S) loyal workers ignored, those with 'suitcases' are accepted: Prajwal Revanna

H.D. Revanna's son expresses displeasure over being sidelined by his own party; says he is an aspirant for Hunsur Assembly seat

Prajwal Revanna addressing JD(S) workers in Hunsur yesterday.

Hunsur, July 7 (Raghu&BCT)- The simmering discontent within the Janata Dal (S) for party ticket from Hunsur for the 2018 Assembly polls came out in the open yesterday when Prajwal Revanna, grandson of JD(S) supremo H.D. Deve Gowda and son of former Minister H.D. Revanna expressed his displeasure over how loyal party workers were being treated in the party. Prajwal's uncle H.D. Kumaraswamy is the President of Karnataka JD(S).

Speaking at an awareness programme for JD(S) workers at Puttaswamappa Kalyana Mantap in Hunsur yesterday, Prajwal said, "Today, those who are promptly serving the party are seated at the back row and those bringing in suitcases are being seated in front rows," and his statement received a huge round of applause from the party workers.

"Opportunities must be provided for sincere and loyal party workers and a party must take all communities along without any sort of discrimination," he said.

Continuing, Prajwal, without taking any names, said, "Yes. I am an aspirant of JD(S) ticket from Hunsur and I am pained to hear the latest developments in the party where I have not been recognised." Calling upon the party workers not to tolerate injustice, he said that youths in the party should come out and play an active role in building the party and convincing the leaders to encourage loyal workers. "I will support you and I will be with you as all your struggle is for the welfare of the party," Prajwal added.

"Only when you touch a rose plant you know that it is full of thorns. Likewise, a mountain that looks smooth from far is full of stones and boulders. The grass is not green always on the other side," he said. "Those who have their legs in two boats will drown. They must remember who gave them political asylum when they migrated from other parties," he added.

Praising his grandfather and former Prime Minister H.D. Deve Gowda and former Karnataka Chief Minister D. Devaraja Urs for bringing a series of social reforms, he called upon party workers to follow their footsteps to bring in a change to the society.

"Deve Gowda has sacrificed to build the party from scratch and he is known for his pro-poor and pro-Dalit policies. We must follow his ideals and build a strong party that can withstand the money and muscle power of bigger parties," he told party workers.

PRAJWAL DENIES STATEMENTS

As soon as the media picked up his words and started airing those clips, Prajwal Revanna said that he has been misunderstood. "My statements have not been directed at party leaders and our party does not follow "suitcase culture". We must all strive to bring back H.D. Kumaraswamy to power," he said.

Don't attach significance to Prajwal's words, says his father Revanna

Mysuru, July 7 (BCT)- JD(S) leader and former Minister H.D. Revanna this morning said that there was no need to attach much significance to his son Prajwal Revanna's statements in Hunsur yesterday.

Revanna was in the city along with his wife Bhavani Revanna to offer special puja to Goddess Chamundeshwari on the occasion of second Ashada Shukravara. He was speaking to reporters who sought his reaction to Prajwal's statements.

"There is no need to attach any significance to Prajwal's statements as JD(S) Supremo H.D. Deve Gowda's words and decisions are final and he will take a call on who should stand the elections and from where," Revanna said.

On the tussle for Hunsur constituency Assembly ticket, Revanna said that there was no rivalry.

"We are united and there are no differences. Even if there are disagreements, we will sort them out amicably," he said.

HUNSUR ASSEMBLY TICKET

Prajwal Revanna's statement ruffles feathers, party workers unhappy

Hunsur, July 7 (Raghu&BCT)- A few JD(S) leaders in Hunsur are not happy with the statements of Prajwal Revanna, the son of former Minister and party leader H.D. Revanna. Prajwal stated yesterday that he was an aspirant for Hunsur Assembly ticket for the 2018 elections.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, H.P. Sathish Kumar, Hunsur City Municipal Council Member, said that the remarks were uncalled for and his words did not have a sanction from the party High Command.

Satish, who is also the member of Planning Committee of Mysuru, said that Prajwal does not understand the ground realities of Hunsur constituency. "He never comes here and does not know party workers. How can he aspire for a ticket," he questioned.

"For us, H.D. Deve Gowda, H.D. Kumaraswamy, G.T. Devegowda and Chikkamadu are leaders. G.T. Devegowda and his family are with us since years and they have responded to our problems. Prajwal, who has stayed away from Hunsur for so many years, cannot come now to claim the ticket," he said.

Similar sentiments were also reflected by APMC Member Aswal Kempegowda and JD(S) Hunsur Minority Wing leader Sardar Ahmed. "These statements by Prajwal have pained the leaders and party workers. Prajwal was instigated by some dissidents and he has been brainwashed to speak against the High Command," they said.

Aswal Kempegowda said that yesterday's party workers' meet at Gowramma Puttaswamappa Kalyana Mantap was organised at the behest of party leaders. "Prajwal came here unannounced. He does not realise how popular are G.T. Devegowda and his son G.D. Harish Gowda in Hunsur. They have converted Hunsur into a strong JD(S) fort," he said.

Sardar Ahmed said that Prajwal has no connect with Hunsur whatsoever. "We will follow what our party supremo says. Prajwal is not our leader. We will convince the High Command to give a chance to loyal party workers who have served the constituency and not for others who come at the last moment aspiring for power," he said.

Sunil Bose made Vigilance Panel Chief

Sunil Bose

Mysuru, July 7- District and PWD Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa's son Sunil Bose, who is an accused in a sand mining bribery case, has been nominated as Chairman of the Vigilance Committee which oversees the implementation of various housing schemes in T. Narasipur Constituency.

Housing Department Under Secretary C.S. Shivakumara Swamy issued an order to this effect on Wednesday.

Two months ago, Dr. Yathindra, son of Chief Minister Siddharamaiah, was made Chairman of the Vigilance Committee of Varuna Assembly Constituency on the pretext that the CM was not able to give enough time for his Constituency on account of his responsibilities.

Like Dr. Yathindra, the nomination of Sunil Bose is also seen as preparing the ground for his launch in the 2018 Assembly polls.

CAUVERY WATER ROW

Pro-Kannada organisation, farmers protest in Maddur

Maddur, July 7 (NG&VNS) - Around 100 persons including members of Kasturi Pro-Kannada Organisation and farmers staged a protest at the Maddurammana Kere in Maddur this morning protesting against the release of Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu.

They alleged that the State Government had failed to protect the interest of the farmers by releasing water to TN.

On learning about the protest, Cauvery Neeravari Nigam Engineer Thamanna arrived at the spot and received a memorandum from the protestors and assured to bring the matter to the notice of higher officials.

Second Ashada Shukravara

Devotees continue to throng Chamundi Hill temple

Mysuru, July 7 (MTY&NNN)- The second Ashada Shukravara atop the Chamundi Hill offering puja to Chamundeshwari continued evoking 'pujya bhava,' from thousands of devotees who had started gathering from as early as 3 am today.

Devotees were seen parking their vehicles near the helipad and taking free bus rides atop the hill and as one of the faithful Nagaraj, who never misses a single Ashada Shukravara since the past 15 years, speaking to Star of Mysore said, "Earlier, there was no restriction to take the vehicles up the Hill. However, over the years, the rush during the Ashada Fridays grew and the District Administration stepped in and streamlined the rush. It is well-organised now and what former District Minister S.A. Ramdas did a couple of years ago by organising free trips from the Helipad is laudable."

The pujas to Goddess Chamundeshwari in the Sanctum Sanctorum began at 3 am and it included Mahayaga Purva Rudrabhisheka, Panchamruthabhisheka, Pushparchane, Kumkumarchane and Abhisheka. Once the pujas were over, the darshan began at 5.30 am.

There were separate queues for devotees paying Rs. 300 that included two ladoos, Rs. 100, Rs. 30 and a general one for free entry. Everyone followed the queue system as there were barricades and iron grills separating each category.

The Coimbatore-based Durga Enterprises organises Anna Dasoha on the second Ashada Shukravara every year and this year too the members of the family were seen serving food.

"It is a joy to come here every year and participate in the Dashoa as the whole place is spic and span. This is our way of paying respect to the Goddess Chamundeshwari who has blessed us abundantly," said a family member.

Former Minister H.D. Revanna and wife Bhavani Revanna visited the temple and offered puja.

There was a tight Police bandobust by DCP Dr. H.T. Shekar and his team.

Meanwhile, public announcements continued to blare that there are tickets of Rs. 250 and Rs. 50, while it has been revised to Rs.300 and Rs. 100 for the special darshans.

Litter and plastic menace atop hill?

However, a few devotees who visit the temple had their own observations. Bharat Urs, a devotee told SOM, "The Ashada Shukravara is a perfect occasion where a lot of littering happens in the most rampant and ugly manner."

"Plastic menace is now an age-old problem in the city and the government is leaving no stone unturned to keep a check regarding this issue. During Ashada Fridays, the cops at the helipad ensure that no one carries disposable water bottles to the Chamundi Hill. However, by allowing shops/hotels at the hilltop to sell disposable water bottles, the effort of the cops at the Helipad is going unnoticed. Even after boards that read "no plastic zone" are put up, by allowing sale of disposable water bottles, the beauty of Chamundi remains under the "plastic threat". Will there be a complete ban of plastic on the hilltop?" asked Prerana a devotee.

Ramdas visits K.R. Hospital

Hospital this morning to get first-hand information on patients admitted to the hospital on complaints of viral fever. K.R. Hospital Medical Superintendent Dr. S. Chandrasekhar, Cheluvamba Medical Superintendent Dr. Radhamani, RMO Dr. C. Rajesh Kumar and others were present.

BJP warns of severe protest if release of water to TN is not stopped

Mysuru, July 7 (RKB&DM)- Strongly condemning the release of KRS Water to Tamil Nadu (TN), the BJP has warned of intensifying its agitation, if the State Government fails to stop release of Cauvery Water to TN.

Addressing a press meet at Pathrakarthara Bhavan here this morning, District BJP President M. Shivanna lashed out at the State Government for defending the release of water under the pretext of complying with the SC order.

Questioning the motive of the State Government behind the release of water, Shivanna said that Chief Minister Siddharamaiah should give top priority for water storage in dams.

Ridiculing the statement of Water Resource Minister M.B. Patil, defending the release of water citing the Supreme Court order, he said that the CM should take a firm stand against release of water and come to the rescue of our farmers.

Shivanna, citing his own experience as a Minister in S.M. Krishna Government, when the then Government had back-tracked after initial efforts of cloud seeding had failed, Shivanna asked the State Government to carefully study the previous experiences before launching cloud seeding.

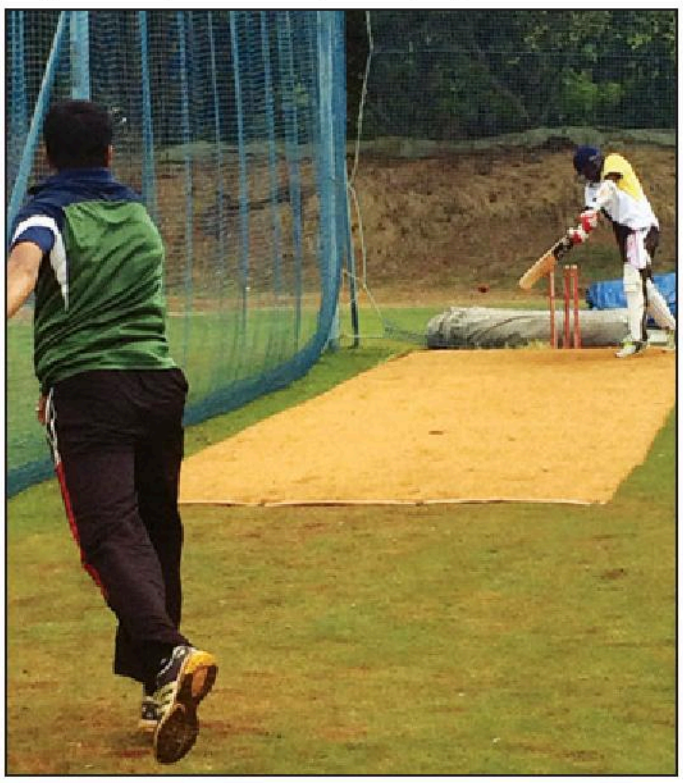
Cricket fever grips Mysuru officials

By S.N. Venkatnag Sobers

It is a known fact that cricket is a religion in India. There is hardly a person who wouldn't have played cricket, though not professionally, at least in grounds as children. Currently, the cricket buffs are keen on watching the Indian Eves playing at the ongoing World Cup in England. But the cricket fever seems to have also gripped our officials who have been practising for the past week for a friendly match scheduled tomorrow, July 8.

The officials, who are working day-in and day-out to fight dengue and other vector-borne diseases which are rampant in city and district, have taken some time out to hit the cricket nets at the SDNR Wadiyar Stadium and try their hands on leather ball cricket. District officials, including the Police and MCC officials will play a friendly T20 match. The match will be played between Deputy Commissioner's XI Vs. Police Commissioner's XI.

Though many of them have not played leather ball cricket, they have been training hard over the past one week under K.R. Pavan (KSCA Academy Coach) who is assisted by Lokesh. The KSCA Mysuru Zone has been providing all facilities including ground staff, who has been preparing wickets for the practice every day.



What officials say...

"We are just playing a friendly match and depending on the feedback we plan to take this forward. There are also plans of organising a tournament involving other departments and the media as well," said Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep

"Our boys have been practising well over the past one week and we are confident of putting up a good show," said City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subrahmanyeswara Rao.

"This is one of those occasions where the officials of various departments come together. It is the time when discussions are held on various issues and also to get acquainted with one another," said MCC Commissioner G. Jagadeesha.

"The match will be fun to watch and play as officials of various departments will be hitting the ground tomorrow, all geared up to showcase their cricketing skills. This also helps us get physically and mentally fit," said Dr. K. Rameshwarappa, Senior Deputy Director, Food and Civil Supplies.

Science writer Nagesh Hegde's brochure on cow released

Dignitaries seen releasing the brochure Aadunika Badukina Prathikshanavu Go-Maya in city yesterday.

Mysuru, July 7(RKB&NNN)- Every second of a modern man's life is ruled by that bovine animal — the cow and since its protection has become a hot topic today in the country, Science Writer Nagesh Hegde has come out with a brochure titled "Aadunika Badukina Prathikshanavu Go-Maya." He explains how only half of the animal is consumed as food, while the other half is used in so many products that a man uses without even his knowledge.

Releasing the brochure at a function organised by the Dalit Sangarsha Samithi at the Rotary auditorium here yesterday, Thinker P. Mallesh said that the bone powder, hide, oil extracted from the cow and buffalo is used by man in his daily life and that is what the brochure highlights.

No Constitution or State can question what we eat. However, in the name of God, diktats are being given not to consume beef. The day is not far off when they would also come out with excuses that since pig and fish are the vehicles of Gods one should stop eating them too. This is the propaganda of the RSS and it is indirectly ruling the Centre that is in its hands. If we do not wake up then Vaidika or Sanatana Dharma will be imposed on us once again, he reflected.

Prof. K.S. Bhagawan, lauding Nagesh Hegde for the brochure, said that 98 per cent of the people in the world are non-vegetarians. The Centre's unscientific Cow Protection Bill is a failure as it does not have the support of the majority of the people. Instead, one should start recognising human values and spread this message in every village, he opined.

Litterateur Prof. Kalegowda Nagawara said that the fundamentalists act as though it is their right to oppose beef consumption. Such people are there in every religion. Even when Dr. B.R. Ambedkar proceeded to give women equal rights, the fundamentalists then were opposing it. There are signs that the country is preparing to go to war and this kind of jingoism is against human nature. Everyone should fight against such majoritarian moves and put a stop to the fundamentalists' thinking. Senior journalist Rajashekar Koti, thinker Rathi Rao, DSS District Convenor Bettaiah Kote, office-bearers Shambulingaswamy, Rathnapuri Puttaswamy, Uma Mahadev and others were present.

Gist of 'Go-Maya' brochure

Research shows that the carcass of a docile cow or its hide has many uses. This is what Nagesh Hegde highlights in the brochure. The list is impressive and it includes car seats, leather jackets, bitumen for the road, gelatine sticks used to blast rocks, the shining plywood sheets, gum to stick papers, iron tablets used to treat anaemic patients, Ephinephrene medicine for controlling low blood pressure, soaps, shaving creams, toothpaste, perfumes, crayons, candle sticks and in many other products it is used.

Coming to sports, it also is ruled by the cow. For instance the cricket ball, football, hand gloves, batting pads are all made by buffalo hide. The intestines of the buffalo is used in stringing tennis and badminton racquets. Even the chewing gum that children are so fond of has the gelatine extracted from the horns of the cows.

Just half portion of the cow or buffalo that comes to the abattoirs is converted into beef. The rest of the portion is as shown above used for various purposes. If we stop using this then the disposal becomes a major issue. The cost of beef will become prohibitive.

The gist of the brochure that Nagesh Hegde has so vividly described no doubt will shock one to shed tears but if the trend to hurt people in the name of cow continues, the day is not far off when we have to use glycerine to shed tears.

KAT stays cancellation of Basavegowda as MCDCC Bank Director

Basavegowda

Mysuru, July 7- The Karnataka Administrative Tribunal (KAT) has stayed the Joint Registrar of Co-operative Societies' (Mysuru Zone) order removing C. Basavegowda as Director of the MCDCC Bank.

Yachenahalli PLD Bank President Y.N. Shankaregowda had petitioned the Joint Registrar of Co-operative Societies, seeking the removal of Basavegowda as MCDCC Bank Director, on the ground that Basavegowda has illegally contested the MCDCC poll by falsely claiming that he (Basavegowda) was a resident of Rangasamudra PLD Bank Jurisdiction. The Joint Registrar of Co-operative Societies (Mysuru Zone) Court which heard the petition on June 13, cancelled Basavegowda's election as MCDCC Bank Director. Later, Basavegowda moved the KAT, questioning his disqualification as MCDCC Bank Director. KAT which heard Basavegowda's plea stayed the Joint Registrar's order while posting the next hearing to Aug. 10.

Residents plan protest on July 12

"These layouts were formed by the Government's own department through City Improvement Trust Board (CITB) (now MUDA) and transferred to the MCC after collecting the cost of the house sites and under the sale deed as per law. There were no problems since they were formed nearly 25 years ago and suddenly two years back the entire land has been illogically classified as 'B Kharab' (government land) by the government's own officers who are unaware of the background and history of these MUDA-formed layouts," Manjunath said.

Alleging that the issue was intentionally not solved by the Congress government in the State though there are over 30,000 residents in the said survey numbers, he said, "If the issue is not solved, MLA Somashekar from Krishnaraja and Minister Tanveer Sait who represents the Narasimharaja constituency must resign. I call upon them to join the protest on July 12 and wake up the authorities," he said.

Manjunath said that neither the District Administration nor the MUDA is bothered about the plight of residents. "The unscientific classification as 'B Kharab' has resulted in non-issue of 'khatas', title deeds, building plans, completion certificates, etc. thus legally disabling them from selling their properties or to raise loans to meet their commitments," he said.

The Samithi will take a call on the possibilities of filing criminal cases against erring officers and also decide if the residents should pay taxes or not. "Several agitations including hunger strike in front of MUDA and Vidhana Soudha Chalo have been planned," he said.

West Bengal's 'Kolsi' is IGRMS Exhibit of the Month

Mysuru, July 7 - As part of its monthly exhibit, the Indira Gandhi Rashtriya Manav Sangrahalaya (IGRMS), Southern Regional Centre, Irwin Road, Mysuru, has displayed 'Kolsi', a decorative ritual object from West Bengal. The exhibit was inaugurated yesterday and this object is popular among the folk community in West Bengal.

Metal craft of West Bengal is well recognised for proficient creations from various metals like brass, copper, gold, silver and alloys. The design and ethnicity of metal crafts have maintained the tradition of ancient India with an amalgamation of modern trends.

Fourteen inches in height and with a circumference of 32 inches, Kolsi is a brass pitcher, locally known as Ghara. The object has been collected from Mutukganj village, Bankura District of West Bengal. The significance of the object is found in the ritual usage during marriage ceremonies.

The bride considers this object as very important at the beginning of her married life. The Kolsi (pitcher) is an essential object for the bride's family to handover to the bridegroom's family. During marriage, the Kolsi is filled with water for ritual purposes and the newly-wedded couple has to perform certain ceremonies and rituals.

After marriage the Kolsi will be used by the bride to fetch water for some time. The bridegroom's family believes that if she (bride) can carry water without any difficulty, she can ably tackle tricky family situations.

The art of making metal craft in West Bengal has been handed down to the present generation of artisans from craftsmen who were adept at creating exclusive items since prehistoric ages. Artisans of Bankura, Bishnupur, Ghatal and Chandanpur in Midnapore engage themselves in engraving brass and bell metal work. In addition to this, one of the well-appraised forms of metal craft of West Bengal is Dhokra craft which is perhaps the only living tradition of metal image making in Eastern India.

The metal craft of West Bengal includes the superb creations of Dhokra craft that include 'payeri' or 'mol' (anklets), 'hansuli' (necklace), earrings and bangles. Besides these, some of the knick-knacks made by these artisans are the 'Buli' (piggybank), measuring bowls or 'paikona' of different sizes, ceremonial 'potkalas', which is mounted on a wooden pole for festivals.

In addition to these items, artisans create various kinds of ritualistic objects like Kolsi that have immense importance in Hindu religion. Images and figures of gods and goddesses, birds and animals, like Lakshmi, Lakshmi-Narayan, Pancha Pradeep, Siva-Parvathi flanked by Ganesh and Karthik, elephants, horses, owls, peacocks, etc.

The metal craft of West Bengal is highly acclaimed because of its rich cultural heritage that has given the craft a different dimension in the history of Indian metal craft. Though the ancient tradition has instances of heavy metal work, the contemporary trend has altered the style and with the fusion of tradition and style different pieces of art and jewellery are created.

About the artist

Generally profession and passion (hobbies) don't go together and they rarely mix. One such artist who studied B.Com and stayed away from numbers and calculations to work on handicrafts, her passion, is Shrimathi Arun Kumar.

Born at Sringeri, Shrimathi Arun Kumar is settled in Mysuru. Her mother was an inspiration for her to take up handicrafts as a profession and she excelled in it. She opted for handicrafts at a time when there were no entertainment options like now — TV and mobile. Initially she started with rangoli, thread and needle work, stringing beads and small decorative items and she learnt all of it by watching her mother doing them.

She later improved her skills and took up a variety of delicate art works, nib painting, embossing and art with coconut shells and leaves. Apart from works of art, Shrimathi Arun Kumar is proficient in designing bridal accessories, cloth decorations and decorations of doors.

She has won many prizes at the Dasara Exhibition and at the Yuvajanotsva organised by Kannada and Culture Department. Shrimathi Arun Kumar also collects coins from different countries and has a collection from around 40 to 50 countries.

Kohli's knock seals series for India

Kingston (Jamaica), July 7 - India captain Virat Kohli scored an unbeaten century as his team crushed West Indies by eight wickets to clinch their one-day international series in the final match yesterday.

Kohli scored an unbeaten 111 at Sabina Park in Kingston, Jamaica, securing victory in style with a six as India won at a canter with 79 balls to spare to take the five-match series 3-1.

India scored 206 for two wickets in reply after West Indies won the toss and batted, compiling 205-9 off their allotted 50 overs on a good batting surface. Kohli scored at almost a run a ball, smashing 12 fours and two sixes for his 28th ODI century. He was ably assisted by Dinesh Karthik, 50 not out and opener Ajinkya Rahane (39).

Kohli was named Player of the Match, with Rahane Player of the Series. Rahane finished the series with 336 runs at an average of 67.2, taking his opportunity after failing to make the team for the recent Champions Trophy in England.

The Hope brothers provided a rare bright spot for the home team, with opener Kyle compiling a quick 46 off 50 balls, while Shai made a more patient 51 off 98 balls. West Indies captain Jason Holder praised his bowlers, but admitted the batting was not up to scratch during the series.

Chris Gayle returns for West Indies when India's brief tour of the Caribbean wraps up with a Twenty20 in Kingston on Sunday. Jamaican Gayle has never played an international Twenty20 at Sabina Park.

London, July 7 - Novak Djokovic shrugged off sweltering 30-degree heat to breeze past Adam Pavlasek 6-2, 6-2, 6-1 and reach the Wimbledon third round yesterday.

The three-time champion brushed aside the 136rd-ranked Czech on Court One to make the last-32 for the ninth year in succession. Djokovic, the second seed, whose shock third round loss to Sam Querrey at Wimbledon last year precipitated a worrying decline in form, will next face either Juan Martin del Potro or Ernests Gulbis.

Bernard Tomic may have been knocked out but the Australian was still making waves on Thursday when he was fined 15,000 pounds after claiming he was "bored" during his lacklustre defeat to Mischa Zverev.

Tomic, who was accused of "unsportsmanlike behaviour" had also admitted he called for the trainer even though he was not injured to try to disrupt his opponent's momentum.

Russia's Daniil Medvedev was slapped with a 14,500 pound fine after a series of disputes with umpire Mariana Alves during his five-set loss to Ruben Bemelmans in the second round.

Medvedev ended the match by throwing coins in the direction of umpire's chair although he insisted the bizarre gesture was not meant to imply that the official was corrupt.

Meanwhile, the injuries continued to pile up at Wimbledon when Belgium's Steve Darcis, who famously knocked out Rafael Nadal four years ago, retired at 3-0 down to David Ferrer.

Darcis needed a medical timeout on his injured groin before quitting one point later. Eight men and one woman have now retired from their singles matches.

WORD OF THE DAY

Sericeous

Pronunciation: suh-RISH-us

Meaning: Covered with fine silky hair.
Examples: The plant was small and delicate, with narrow sericeous leaves.
Origin: In the writings of the ancient Greeks, there is mention of the Sēres, an eastern Asian people who made what the Greeks called sērikos fabrics. Historians now believe that the Sēres were the Chinese, from whom the ancient Greeks first obtained silk. The ancient Romans wove the Sēres' name into their language, creating sericum, the Latin word for silk. The English word silk is also assumed to be spun—with some significant alterations from Old English to Middle English—from the same Greek fiber. Both silk and silken have been in the English language for many, many centuries, but scientists wanted a new term to describe the silky hairs on some leaves and bodies, and so they adapted the Late Latin word sericeus ("silken") to create sericeous, a word that appears almost exclusively in technical contexts.

THE ODD WORD

Pabouche

A slipper.

IDIOM OF THE DAY

You can't get blood out of a stone

Meaning: You cannot extract what isn't there to begin with; to attempt what is impossible.
Origin: First recorded in Giovanni Torriano's Second Alphabet, 1662: "To go about to fetch bloud out of stones, namely to attempt what is impossible."

QUOTE BOX

Where hope grows, miracles blossom.

CRYPTOQUIP

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: The power of hiding ourselves from one another is mercifully given, for men are wild beasts, and would devour one another but for this protection.
